Bellevue Gave Canadians Hard Battle—Seek League Championship

Opinions Many and Varied on Monday's Game—Visitors Heavy

Monday night's hockey game was the topic of much discussion and varied opinions. Some thought it was the best game of the season; others thought it terribly ragged and at times dull and slow. Coleman's goal at times was wide open and left splendid chances for Bellevue to score, while Coleman missed some good opportunities. Following is the press report: Canadians added to their lead in the Crow league by a 4-3 victory over Bellevue Maple Leafs, which would have been a tie but for a goal shot by Fisher being declared off-side.

Joyce scored for Canadians in 13 minutes of the first period, and Jim Fraser on an assist from Bill Fraser in 19 minutes. Liya missed two good chances to score, but made up for it in the third by scoring twice in half a minute, first on an assist by Bill Fraser, second by Jim Fraser.

Dambois and Fisher each scored for Bellevue in the second period. Dambois on a hot shot a minute from the face-off, while Fisher's shot was blocked by Kanik but glanced off his skate into the net.

Dambois again scored in the third on an assist by Morris, and Fisher's goal was declared off-side. Morris and Matton starred for Bellevue, and both goal keepers stopped many dangerous shots. The third period was the fastest. Brown, in his first appearance with Canadians on right wing, showed up well. There was plenty of hard checking on fast ice, Dambois and Kwasney clashing which necessitated the latter being patched up, while Dambois was floored for a few minutes.

Penalties were Johnson of Canadians; Knezicke of Bellevue, both in the second period. The lineup: Bellevue: Scodellaro; Matson, Halworth, Tapay; Morris, G. Hlasney and Knezicke; Fisher, Dambois and J. Hlasney.

Canadians: Kanik; Johnson, Kwasney, Gardner; J. Fraser, Bill Fraser and Liya; Jenkins, Joyce and F. Brown.

Referee: W. Gate.

Charlie Ray, speaking for Bellevue Maple Leafs, telephoned in stating they had no kick against "Bill" Gate as referee, despite complaints heard from spectators.

Hockey Gossip

Junior Team is Proposed to Develop New Players—Proposed Worthy of Support of Parents and Sports Enthusiasts

Junior Hockey has been neglected with the result no recruits are being developed for the senior team. There are boys anxious to play organized junior hockey, and leadership and encouragement is required. Though late in the season, a nucleus of a team for next year could be developed, if sufficient interest is taken. Clarence Huffman states he would undertake to coach the boys if those interested in developing junior players would organize. The proposal certainly deserves support, for it is only by encouraging the younger players that a senior team will be kept up to good amateur standard.

THREATENING BOUCHER'S MONOPOLY

Frankie Boucher of the New York Rangers has had somewhat of a monopoly on the Lady Byng Trophy, which is awarded annually to the National Hockey League player who is declared to be the cleanest and most effective player in the league. Boucher has won it five of the eight years it has been awarded. Neighbor won it the first year and Burch the second, so that only once since then has Boucher failed to capture it, and that was in 1932, when Joe Primeau of Toronto took it. This year again finds these two players in a great battle for the trophy, with Primeau usually threatening Boucher's hold on it, as the Toronto star has not yet received a single penalty, while the Ranger has been in the box two minutes. This is a trophy well worth winning—Christian Science Monitor.

Eastern Premier Blames The West For Extravagance

Montreal.—Western provinces have signally failed to co-operate in efforts to obtain some measure of national economy, Premier W. J. P. MacMillan, M.D., of Prince Edward Island, stated in an interview here Sunday.

"The provinces of Quebec and Ontario were bearing Canada's financial burden," he said and the maritime provinces "are doing all in their power to lighten the load of expenditure."

"The west has been 'damnable extravagant,'" the premier asserted, "and it is only fair to Ontario and Quebec to know that the people of their smaller sister provinces in the east are doing all they can to co-operate."

For four offices—prime minister, minister of public health, and education, and provincial treasurer—Dr. MacMillan revealed that his total stipends come to $4,000 a year.

The minister of public works receives $2,000 in the island, he said, with $1,500 being the salary of the attorney-general. Members of the legislature, he added, receive a $400 seasonal indemnity apiece.

Lifts Restrictions

United States Government Moves To Enlarge Supply Of Liquor

Washington.—Lifting the restrictions on importations of American type whiskey for 30 days, the United States government moved to enlarge the supply of liquor, lower prices and rout the bootlegger.

What effect the order might have on the Canadian liquor business with the United States was not readily ascertainable. As American type whiskeys have been flowing from Canadian distilleries into the republic outside of any quota restriction, the order was taken to refer to countries other than the Dominion with such right types of liquor.

No Navy Building

Australia Has No Intention Of Embarking On Construction Program London, Eng.—Australia, like Canada, has no intention of embarking on a program of new naval construction.

Rounding out a review of Empire naval policy, authoritative Australian sources in London, in response to enquiry by the Canadian Press, stated Australia had no intention of new naval building. They pointed out that at present she has only one ship building, with no orders and no appropriations for any other vessels.

Partial Shadow Will Cover Half Of Pacific In February

Northfield, Minn.—An eclipse of the sun "which ends the day before it begins" will cross the Pacific next month and American astronomers officially appeal to stargazers to change courses and head into this temporary night in the interest of science.

The partial shadow will cover nearly half the ocean. Just before sunset it will shade the west coast of Canada and the United States.

French Premier Defends His Regime Over Scandal Charges

Paris, France.—Defending his regime from a barrage of corruption charges in the Chamber of Deputies, Premier Camille Chautemps revealed what he said was a plot against his government in connection with the $10,000,000 Bayonnais Bank scandal.

While mobs plotted outside the Chamber, the premier revealed a coup d'état which he said had been prepared three days ago to place the government in the hands of a directory of a few men "reputed for their energy."

In a fighting mood M. Chautemps told the Chamber that the Democratic regime was endangered when a resignation of the cabinet was envisaged following the death of Sergei "Ivanovitch" Stavisky and the collapse of his huge underground financial machine.

British Revenue Higher

Sixty Million Above Figures For Last Financial Year

London, England.—Despite the fact the income-tax schedule this year called for two equal instalments on last year's income, one due at New Year's and the other at mid-year instead of three-quarters and one-quarter respectively a year ago, reports show the taxpayer made a fine showing since the start of the year. Receipts to date total $44,410,000 compared with $47,380,000 last year.

Revenue at this period of the current financial year which ends March 31 is up $60,000,000 above figures at this time last year. A deficit on account is $480,000,000 compared with $515,000,000 a year ago. It is estimated the full year's operations will reveal a budget surplus.

Gold Seekers Stranded

Expedition Meets With River Accident In British Guiana

New York.—Associates of William La Varre, head of an expedition exploring the headwaters of the Essequibo River, deep in the jungles of British Guiana, were informed by cablegram of a river accident that cost the explorers their $4-foot canoe and all their supplies.

The accident occurred in the Rupununi River, leaving the expedition isolated from civilization. La Varre indicated the expedition had discovered gold and diamond fields in a region that may prove to be one of the world's greatest sources of such treasure.

Students Must Pay Fees

Cannot Register At Toronto University Until Obligations Are Met Toronto, Ont.—The registration of 60 students at the University of Toronto, unable to pay their fees, has been cancelled. A. B. Fennell, registrar, announced. They have been informed they can no longer attend lectures.

The deadline for payment of fees had been extended twice, Mr. Fennell said. "Many students have paid their fees since the university took active steps to collect, but there are still some 60 who have not. The registration of these students has been cancelled, but they will be reinstated if they meet their obligation," he said.

Russian Trade Agreement

Soviets Will Purchase Large Quantities Of French Products

Paris, France.—Soviet Russia agreed to buy $17,000,000 worth of French products within the next year in a commercial agreement which was prepared for signature.

In exchange France is to grant Russia credit and a minimum tariff on Russian products not competing with the French. In case competition threatens, the French will be free to impose quotas on such products.

France's exports to Russia are increased five-fold by the agreement as she exported less than $3,300,000 worth of products to Russia in 1933.

Canada And World Peace

Dominion In Envisable Position To Assist The Cause

Ottawa, Ont.—Six reasons why Canada has a special opportunity to contribute to the building of a peace world are listed in the discussion outline of the League of Nations Society's national peace study project. They are:

Canada is the only North American British country in the League of Nations; Canada is both an Atlantic and Pacific country.

Canada is both bi-lingual and bi-racial and her treatment of minority problems qualifies her to be of service to the rest of the world;

Canada is associated with six other countries in the British Commonwealth and in a position to influence them;

Canada lacks special interest in European questions and is for the reason sometimes qualified to act as a conciliator;

Canada possesses great resources in nickel, copper, wheat, etc., which give her power to assist both in preserving world peace and in maintaining war.

The outline which has been prepared by a committee of experts in education proposes discussions for 10 meetings.

Would Fix Interest Rate

Manitoba Municipalities Recommend Plan Based On Wheat Price

Winnipeg, Man.—The executive of the Union of Manitoba Municipalities placed before the Manitoba government proposals for legislation to be introduced at the coming session of the Manitoba House. Among other things, the 29 resolutions called for an important change in the Debt Adjustment Act, which cited a new principle for dealing with interest on farm mortgages.

Adjustment of interest was proposed on the basis of the net track price per bushel of No. 1 Northern wheat at the close of the Winnipeg market September 15. The government was urged to amend the Debt Adjustment Act so that when wheat under such a classification was less than 50 cents, then interest for that year should be written off.

It was proposed that if the price be over 50 cents, but under 65 cents per bushel, interest should not be more than three per cent. If the price were between 65 and 75 cents the rate would be not more than four per cent, and if the price were 75 cents or over the rate should not be more than six per cent.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Sir William Mulock, K.C.M.G., Chief Justice of Ontario, who celebrates his 90th birthday on January 19th.

Safety Of Missionaries

Reassurance Regarding Safety Of Americans In China Is Received

Hong Kong, China.—Some reassurance regarding the safety of six American missionaries trapped in the Fukien province fighting zone was contained in a report that Nationalist forces will not attack Foochow, the provincial capital and centre of anti-Nationalist revolt.

The missionaries were isolated when the Nanking regulars and rebel forces engaged in fierce fighting near Kuiton, about 50 miles from Foochow, and disrupted communication facilities made contact with them impossible during the last 11 days.

After a relentless offensive that reportedly brought them to within 25 miles of Foochow, the Nationalists were said to have abandoned the idea of bombing Foochow, hoping that the 15th route army in the capital would capitulate to avoid great property damage.

Bread Control Law

Legislation Governing Selling Of Bread In Alberta To Be Introduced

Edmonton, Alberta.—Legislation to control the production and selling of bread in Alberta is likely to be introduced at the coming session of the legislature. Premier Brownlee and members of his government were asked by a delegation of master bakers for an act covering production, and price control will probably be added by the government on its own initiative.

That this province should have a Bread Act similar to those in Saskatchewan, British Columbia, and Ontario was the request put forward by the delegation.

Money In Sugar Beets

Lethbridge, Alberta.—In the past four months beet growers in southern Alberta have received nearly $1,600,000 in crop payments. This includes final payment on the 1932 crop. A final instalment of $87,000 on the 1933 crop was paid Friday.

THRILLS AT THE CHRISTMAS CIRCUS AT THE OLYMPIA

Every Christmas thousands of Londoners flock to the Olympia to see the famous annual circus, and this year the circus again provided the most popular of the Yuletide entertainments in the British Capital. Our picture, taken during the performance, shows the Medrano Sisters, in their wonderful equestrian act. This is their first appearance in England.

Want A Marketing Board To Stabilize Prices Of Livestock

Says West Will Not Pay

Quebec Member Is Pessimistic About Advances Made By Ottawa

Quebec, Quebec.—Advances made by the Dominion Government to western provinces to defray ordinary expenses would never be repaid, Hon. John Hall Kelly, member of the Quebec legislative council, is convinced. In the proposed creation of a central bank he sees a further threat of demands from provincial governments for financial aid from the Dominion.

Mr. Hall Kelly made known his views in speaking in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne in the Upper House of the Quebec legislature.

Province of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, he said had borrowed a sum exceeding $42,000,000 from the Dominion exchequer to meet their ordinary expenditures. Notwithstanding conditions laid down last year by Premier R. B. Bennett, further loans had been made.

Edmonton, Alberta.—"Fairly unauthorized and without foundation in fact" is how Premier Brownlee characterizes the statement of Hon. John Kelly in Quebec. So far as Alberta is concerned, the premier says, there is nothing to it.

Continue Drive For Highway

Action On Road From The Pas Is Requested

The Pas, Man.—Continuing their drive for action on The Pas Highway connecting with the cities of the plains, civic organizations of The Pas and Cranberry Portage united to put their case before Premier John Bracken, of Manitoba.

The Pas Board of Trade wired Premier Bracken asking if the proposed road had been placed on the provincial program set before the federal government for consideration in anticipated public works schemes to go into effect next spring.

Premier Bracken answered as follows:

"The Dominion Government has not requested us to submit a program of provincial works, nevertheless a program has been prepared of works suggested by various communities which list includes The Pas Highway among provincial works."

The members decided the premier's wire was ambiguous and drafted another asking whether or not The Pas Highway would be the list sent to Ottawa. At the same time Cranberry Portage representatives sent similar wires.

Fair Pay For Teachers

Alberta Government To Take Action In The Matter

Edmonton, Alberta.—Action is proposed by the provincial government to ensure fair and equitable settlement of disputes between trustees and teachers. Premier Brownlee took a delegation from the Alberta Association of the Canadian Labor Party.

The Premier stated that the Minister of Education and himself were working on a draft of legislation dealing with the formation of a board of reference and it was hoped that this would be acceptable to all sides.

Edmonton, Alberta.—Immediate establishment of a national marketing board with wide powers to stabilize livestock prices, provision of short term and intermediate credits for agriculture and a review of services now provided by public stockyards and changes for same, were among actions urged in resolutions passed at a joint livestock convention in the parliament buildings.

The 75 delegates, representing all branches of the livestock and subsidiary industries, required three sessions—morning, afternoon and night—to complete a discussion of the agenda.

A feature of the session was an address by Premier Brownlee, member of the royal banking commission, on the important subject of agricultural short term and intermediate credits.

He pointed out that bankers in Saskatchewan had testified before the commission that 60 per cent of the farmers in that province were no longer considered good bankers' risks. The percentage was not quite so high in Alberta, he thought.

Short term and intermediate credits were of vital importance to the west—short term credits to finance farmers between putting in and taking off their crops, and intermediate credits of two, three or four years to buy machinery and livestock. The credits must be at a lower interest rate than bank interest.

It was decided that other subjects on the agenda, such as investigating the price paid to the producer and the price paid by the consumer, proposed legislation to compel the marketing of all livestock through public stockyards, regulations to be imposed on packing plants with respect to official weighing and the necessity of obtaining a more even level of values to the producer were matters that should properly be considered by a marketing board.

Outlook More Hopeful

Feeling In Europe Regarding Disarmament Takes Encouraging Turn

London, Eng.—The report Sir John Simon brought back from his conversations with Premier Mussolini at Rome has created a more hopeful outlook toward disarmament negotiations.

It was believed the report of the secretary for foreign affairs confirmed the view that diplomatic negotiations in the various European capitals, especially Paris and Berlin, were taking an encouraging turn, and that it was desirable that they be continued.

The Times editorially said "There can be no doubt that to break into Franco-German negotiations, which are making some progress, would far likely hinder than help them."

New Brunswick Sells Bonds

St. John, N.B.—The Province of New Brunswick has sold $750,000 in 20-year 5 per cent bonds at 98.01, of which a syndicate composed of the Bank of Montreal, Royal Bank of Canada, E. Ames & Co., Ltd., Wood, Gundy & Co., Ltd., Eastern Securities, Ltd., and the Dominion Securities Corp., Ltd., according to an announcement made by Premier L. F. D. Tilley. The issue was made for the purpose of refunding debentures issued in 1924.

U. S. Planes Make Longest Massed Flight Over Water In History

Honolulu. The longest non-stop mass flight over water in aviation history was completed with clock-like precision here on Thursday as six United States navy planes, carrying 30 men on a swift 2,400-mile "routine" transfer from California to Hawaii, alighted at Pearl Harbour in 1-23 order.

The over-all elapsed time of the planes in the air was 26 hours and 21 minutes, but the flying time in formation from the Golden Gate across the perilous stretch of the Pacific to Pearl Harbour was 24 hours and 45 minutes, official time.

They had their troubles with fog, deadweight and darkness. But they came through with certainty. It was not their first swift victory over distance.

A few months ago they flew in formation from Norfolk, Va., to Coco Solo, Panama, and thence to San Diego, Calif.

Some 600 miles off the Golden Gate the squadron dived into its first fog bank and the 10-P-3, commanded by Lieut. St. John Perry, of Greenville, S.C., became temporarily lost but rejoined the formation upon emerging from the hanging clouds. Four or five hundred miles farther out, Perry got lost again in the same manner, but again came back.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

FIVE THOUSAND retail merchants of Alberta have been asked by their association secretary to report the amounts outstanding for goods sold, and the amounts they owe to wholesalers. A mass meeting is to be held in Edmonton, Feb. 12-13-14, when representations will be made to the legislature pointing out the impossible situation that has been developed in regard to retail distribution, to quote A. C. McKay, secretary of the merchants association.

PRAIRIE TOWN Retailers have the hardest battle to face. Lient in granting credit, many cannot collect their debts, and possibly many of the debtors have lost heart and are not trying to pay. Not infrequently the retailer is imposed on by customers buying on credit from him and paying cash to the mail order house. This is very unfair.

LAX BUSINESS methods by retailers cannot be remedied by an association. Any man in business must take his share of risks. He may benefit or suffer from his actions. The great majority of people incurring debts pay; the defaulters injure the entire credit structure. Their abuses of credit react to the detriment of creditors and honest debtors.

AN ORGANIZATION strengthens its members against abuses. Merchants, professional men, workers, all find it necessary to combine to protect their interests. Again quoting the merchant's secretary: "Merchants operating independent stores cannot possibly survive a continuance of present day cut-throat competition. Public opinion will not tolerate the employer who builds his business on the poverty of his employees."

CASH BUSINESS will inevitably follow to enable the retailer to meet competitive prices. Purchasers in order to retain the facilities and convenient service of retail merchants must recognize this, for by cash methods adhered to by all, waste time in book-keeping, bad debts and bad feeling will be eliminated.

LADIES WILL be interested in this, quoted from a Boston daily newspaper;

New York designers give many inkings of what the spring girl will be like. Wearing figure-fitting things, she will step off in ties, pumps or sandals, these usually white. Small waists, pleasing curves and no flat chests are written in the fashions. Dressmakers will be very busy, turning out jackets to match. Rich evening gowns will have long pattering lines. Costumes with trains will cascade down from the waist, which cascades involve an underlying secret—Grandma's bustle is trying to beat its way back.

New York auto show reveals in snub noses, kneed wheels and beauty in streamlining, grace ease and comfort within, together with speed, agility and convenience, evoke wonder at progress made. Such is the introductory head reporting the show which opened on Jan. 6, 40 per cent in wind resistance, meaning lighter gasoline consumption, and knees on front wheel axels, are among the innovations interesting prospective purchasers in 1934. Who can resist wanting to buy a new car with such alluring descriptions?

THE UNITED STATES AND DEAN INGE

(Christian Science Monitor)
The Very Reverend Dean William R. Inge, who is about to retire from the post of Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, and thereby surrender his world-wide title of "the Gloomy Dean," is out with another drive at Anglo-American friendship. He thinks that if England shall again be embroiled in a European war "the United States will probably leave us to our fate." Furthermore he avers that in 1917 American action was taken as the result of friendship for France, not for England.

People, I think, would be interested in a general expression of the opinion of Monitor readers on this subject. Would the United States stand supinely by and see England invaded and reduced to subjection by a coalition of the nations of western Europe? Was it admiration and sympathy for invaded France, or a recognition of the ties of blood, of history and of a common literature with England, which brought America into the World War?

For myself I have no hesitation in

Recovery Under Way E. W. Beatty Believes

Reviewing Canadian business conditions of the past year and at the same time looking forward to the prospects for 1934, E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, thinks the country is on the way back to prosperity, although the way may be long, and at times difficult. In a statement published in the "Montreal Star" he says:—

"Of 1933 I think it is perhaps with relief that most of us will say—that's that, and now for 1934. We meet this New Year with something of a better understanding of what this so-called depression is all about and what we ought to do about it. We see along the road leading to its end more clearly and further than we did a year ago. That fact has inspired confidence and courage and has started us moving towards the better times that broadened prosperity will bring to all. The road is not an easy one; there are long hills and difficult spots, but it offers no danger of problem too great to be surmounted by the courage and energy of the Canadian people."

E. W. Beatty, C.E.

We have before us problems that will tax the ingenuity and strength of our leaders in statescraft, finance and industry and make great demands upon the patience and understanding of our people, but if these problems are met with courage and dealt with in accordance with the laws of sound economics which are as reasonably unchangeable as the laws of nature, this country will emerge from the purging in far better shape to progress than it has ever been before, and individual prosperity for all classes of our people will be more firmly established. I believe that the elusive corner we were hoping to turn through many weary months, slipped past us all unnoticed some time ago, and that we have definitely passed through the worst and most trying phase of the period.

Railroad Situation.
"The past year has been particularly difficult for our railroads and there seems little reason to hope that conditions are going to be much easier for those who operate them in the immediate or near future. Alteration in Canada's status from the position we used to claim as the world's chief producer of bread-stuffs has already proved far-reaching in its adverse effect upon our transportation industry. Under most favorable circumstances governing development of other lines of agricultural production for export, we may reasonably take some years to bring the volume of Canada's rail freight back to the high figures of a few years ago.

answering the first question in the negative. As for the second, American friendship for France is historic, has survived a sort of quasi-war between the two nations in 1811, and will doubtless survive the present controversy over the debts. However, friendship for England is deeper, rooted in the ties of ancestry and ideals often identical. Upon the maintenance of that friendship, and the erection upon it of a common policy in dealing with world problems depends in my judgment the future peace and progress of the civilized world.

Building a Business is Task Requiring Persistent Effort

Making of "Mother's Bread" by Bellevue Bakery Demonstrates Result of Enterprise and Ability

Early on a summer morning, on the writer's first visit to Crows Nest Pass town, while standing on the rear coach platform of the train, a delivery truck was noticed travelling along the highway, bearing the words, "Mother's Bread". Later thoughts turned towards who the maker of "Mother's Bread" might be, and it required very little searching to discover that Harry Meade of Bellevue was the big push behind this enterprise, which is known in all Crows Nest Pass towns of Alberta and British Columbia as well as Pincher Creek and Waterton.

Harry started business as many another tradesman has done. But he knew he had a good product, one he needed in every household, and by making a better loaf and by regular service and persistent advertising, "Mother's Bread" has so impressed itself on the public mind that when bread is thought of naturally it is "Mother's Bread" from Bellevue Bakery.

If you would care to see a model bakery in a small town which is serving a dozen small towns, drop in and see how things are done. Every night while others sleep thousands of loaves are being baked and at 6 a.m. in the morning trucks are loaded for the various towns in which the bread is sold. J. W. Shields is the dealer in Coleman, and half of his day's work is done before many others have started.

Though "Mother's Bread" and Bellevue Bakery are widely known, Mr. Meade never allows the fact to be lost sight of that no business will run on its reputation alone. He is continually on the alert to find better ways of retaining public interest, for he knows that business success can only be achieved by closely watching every detail entering into the manufacture of bread and in service to the dealers and the public.

STRONG PULLING POWER OF JOURNAL ADVERTISEMENTS

Far above the town crier, posters or other forms of advertising, the weekly newspaper develops the most intimate touch with buyers of merchandise. People subscribe for newspapers because they want them, and because news and advertising is more conveniently read in regular printed form. The Journal advertisements attract attention. Typographic appearance with suitable illustrations are strong points in advertising value, and the ad. which has the most puffing or attention compelling power is the ad. which will bring best results. That is why ambitious merchants of Coleman always see that a weekly message is broadcasted through the Coleman Journal --- the paper that is taken home and read by the whole family. The Wheat Pact

France Reported To Be Doing Her Part To Live Up To Agreement

France is doing her part to live up to the credit and letter of the wheat agreement, according to information reaching Hon. M. A. MacPherson, who represented the prairie provinces at the world wheat conference in London, last summer.

Samples of the literature broadcast over France have reached Mr. MacPherson. They include extremely large posters which urge the greater use of wheat and the limiting of the areas sown to wheat and particularly stress the importance of feeding wheat to livestock and poultry. Farmers are advised to mix one quarter wheat with each feed for a horse.

Proceeds To Go Toward Fund For Slum Clearance

Sale of 14 acres in Kensington, southwest London, belonging to the Prince of Wales' Duchy of Cornwall estates was announced in London, the proceeds to be devoted to slum clearance. The area borders the famous Oval, classic cricket-ground, which however is unaffected.

The "Duchy" has a policy of never selling and the gesture came from the Prince of Wales himself, without which the Kensington clearance plans would have been materially hindered.

Highway On Pacific Coast

Starting At Fairbanks Would End At Buenos Aires

Largest single highway project ever undertaken, the 12,000-mile International-Pacific Highway, is projected to begin at Fairbanks, Alaska, follow down the Pacific Coast to Valparaiso, and terminate at Buenos Aires.

Some sections already are completed. Others are passable. In Central America, most of the route has been surveyed.

From Mexico southward the route would be the same as the long-discussed Inter-American Highway. President Roosevelt has offered to finance the survey from Panama to Santiago, Chile, if the governments concerned agree, at a cost of probably $500,000.

The enormous undertaking of a Pacific road was conceived four years ago in Southern California. Since then, such men as Harry Chandler, powerful western publisher, and Percy Johnson of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce have become identified with the plan. The Automobile club of Southern California has successfully secured the route as far south as El Salvador, having sent two motor caravans from Los Angeles.

Sponsors of the road do not urge an overnight spurge of primary highway construction from here to Cape Horn. But they have obtained pledges that the participating nations will lay out their road-building programs hereafter with a view to completing segments of the route as soon as possible.

Approximately 25 per cent. of the International Pacific Highway is an accomplished fact. The route from Hazelton, British Columbia, down the coast to San Diego and thence eastward to Nogales on the Mexican border, is a continuous stretch of 3,000 miles of primary highway.

Egg-Grading Regulations

New Schedule Came Into Effect The First Of January

The riddle of why does a chicken cross the road is not a whit more baffling to a great many people than the new federal egg-grading regulations which came into force on January 1. To those who take time out to study the act, however, it presents few difficulties. The terms "fresh specials," "fresh extras" and "fresh firsts" are to be discontinued. In future fresh eggs will be designated as "A," large, "A," medium, and "A," pullets. Eggs of more than 22 ounces to the dozen will be in the large category; the medium grade will weigh between 18 and 22 ounces, and pullets' eggs will weigh up to 18 ounces. The regulations put storage eggs in "B" grade, but patrons of Central market need not be concerned about that section of the act, because a city-by-law prohibits the vending of storage eggs on the public square.

Alfred Smea, manager of Central market, drew attention to the fact that interior quality was a main factor in the new grading schedule. There will be none to dispute that, except for throwing, a fresh little egg is much to be preferred to a big bad one. Superficial inspection of the exterior isn't helpful to egg shoppers, either. The customer must rely on the honesty of the purveyor, and the government, in its wisdom, gives egg dealers an special incentive to do the honest by providing stiff penalties for those who are not. For the purpose of the act, a fresh egg is one in which the air cell space does not exceed one-quarter of an inch. There is a continuous process of contraction within the shell and when cauling reveals an egg to have more than this amount of air cell space, it is taken as prima facie evidence that the product is making ready to grow a head.

Egg dealers with an established clientele will not be annoyed about the new regulations. They cannot afford to sell eggs of inferior grade and, for the protection of their business, would be careful to keep quality up even in the absence of official regulations. Hamilton, Ont., Spectator.

Marbels of the Human Eye
By F. M. CROWE, Optometrist-Optician, Calgary

NO. 5—MYOPIA, OR "SHORT-SIGHTEDNESS"

As explained in Article No. 4, to obtain normal vision, the depth of the eyeball and the curvature of the lens and Cornea should be in exact relation to each other.

Should the depth be too great or the lens of Cornea too convex then the focal point of the image will be in the Vitreous Humor in front of the Retina. The rays from the image Myopia, after focusing will cross and proceed to the Retina forming an enlarged but blurred image. This is the Myopic condition, and unlike Hyperopia, nature does not provide any means of overcoming it.

The average Myope (Myopic person) has no trouble at the reading distance, his trouble being poor distant vision. It is significant that Myopic persons seldom indulge in outdoor sports or recreation but turn to books and study. The Germans as a nation are typical of this, especially among the "intellectuals" which may possibly account for their advancement in science. It is estimated that of all the refractive errors of the eye only six or seven per cent of people are Myopic.

Myopia may be congenital or acquired. It may be required by excessive close work especially during childhood, before the eyeball has reached its maturity. True Myopia can never improve and all that can be hoped for is that by wearing proper glasses early enough it will not increase and get into the "progressive" type with its resultant evils. It should be corrected as soon as discovered, if for no other reason, to prevent further increase of the trouble. Excessive close work, especially if done under improper lighting conditions, is the principal cause of producing and increasing Myopia. Such persons are usually intolerant of strong light. Being a "weak eye" such symptoms as easily tired watery eyes often accompany this condition. Frowning or knitting the brows to obtain better vision is very characteristic of Myopia.

As I said in explaining Hyperopia that it is the commonest cause of a child's eye turning "crossed" it is Myopia is the usual cause of the eye turning out. The great danger of allowing even a small amount of Myopia to go uncorrected is the almost certain probability that it will grow worse and become a progressive condition and from a normal step to the "malignant" type when the ruin of the Ocular system is usually a matter of time. If a normal degree of eye of one inch were elongated, as in Myopia, one twenty-fifth of an inch, the vision would decrease from one hundred per cent to about fifteen per cent. (To Be Continued)

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 21

JESUS BEGINS HIS MINISTRY

Golden Text: "Repent ye; for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand." Matthew 4:17.

Lesson: Matthew 4:12-25.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 61:1-6.

Explanations and Comments

Capernaum Becomes The Headquarters Of Jesus, verses 12-16. Now when Jesus heard that John was detained in prison, he withdrew into Galilee. The Fourth Gospel narrates the earlier activities of Jesus in Judea, chapters 1 to 6. From Judea, He came to Nazareth, but left that city (Luke 4:16-30) because of the reason for Capernaum which was a town of Galilee in the midst of a densely populated region. Matthew wrote the Gospel especially for the Jews, and he reminds them that Capernaum was in the border of Zebulun and Naphtali, the two tribes who settled there in Old Testament times, and tells them that this was foretold by the sayings of Isaiah the prophet, verses 15 and 16. The people that sat in darkness in Galilee had now seen a great light, for in Jesus was life, and the life was the light of men.

"When the gospel was first preached in the border of Galilee, by Paulus (as we read in Bede's History), King Edwin sat in Council with his chiefs and wise men to decide whether they should give up their idols and believe in the Lord Jesus Christ. One of the Councilors said in the words of the text: 'In winter, O King, when thou art sitting in thy hall at supper, with a great fire burning, and thy nobles and commanders around thee, sometimes a little bird flies through the hall, in at one window and out at another. The moment of his passage is swift to him, for he feels neither cold nor heat; but it is short, and from the dark winter he vanishes into the dark winter of death. So, O King, seems to me the short life of man; for we know not whence we came nor whither we go. If, therefore, this new doctrine be true, and any certain, let us embrace it.'" And so Edwin and his people came out of the dark winter of heathendom into the glorious light of the gospel, and became Christians, and destroyed their idols; just as in our own day had been done in Madagascar, in many of the South Sea Islands. So our Saviour's own preaching is described: 'The people who sat in darkness saw a great light; and to them that sat in the region and shadow of death, to them did light spring up.'" E. R. Conder.

Woman Detective Visits Different Place Every Day

A mystery woman is known to the London park keepers as "The Watcher." Day after day she strolls into one or other of the 113 London County Council parks or open spaces to sit knitting or reading, but always with an eye open for wrongdoers. She is the woman detective employed by the London County Council who watches over the safety of women and children.

The mystery of her identity and the secrecy of her movements help her greatly in her work. This mystery woman has a rota of parks to visit. Every day she is in a different place. If she sees any mischief she reports it to the park keeper; a watch is kept, evidence obtained, and the offender arrested.

Her rota is only broken when she has to investigate complaints made from any woman. She also inspects the gymnasia in the parks, the swings, and the children's playgrounds. Many mothers have cause to be thankful for her vigilance.

Advances In Drying Clays

Continuation of investigations on the treatment of certain mid-western brick clays to overcome drying defects by the Department of Mines at Ottawa has revealed that chemical treatment or preheating treatment must be resorted to in order that those clays may be rendered free from these defects.

Had Narrow Escape

Cries for help, uttered as he was being drawn slowly towards the moving fire in the Toronto Terminal Hotel, a company furnace, brought rescuers who saved William French, 38, from being burned to death. French, shovelling coal, was sucked into the self-feeding chute which led directly into the roaring furnace.

"It is no disgrace to fail if you have done your best," says a philosopher. Still, it's pretty tough to admit that the best you could do was fail.

One of the worst signs of decay is the sympathy that goes with it.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. At a party at which the husband entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the festivity, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them.

(No Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XXVI

Avis' surprise and consternation over her discovery of Peter and Camilla on the beach in the early morning, were no less than Camilla's. The first light of dawn cast grotesque shadows on the four faces that stared at each other while their conglomerate thoughts made hasty adjustments and conclusions.

The pallor of fatigue and faded make-up gave to Avis the haggard appearance of a much older woman; while even in the dim light, Camilla's vivid beauty glowed like the promise of sunrise in the sky. She met Avis' accusing, triumphant, angry gaze with a half smile, as if the situation amused her.

All four of them appeared ridiculous enough, for there was no light more merciless to face than that of the early dawn and there is nothing that so leaves its stamp upon the features as the night abused as day. Avis' condemning hauteur increased. "So, this is where our hostess spent the night?" her words hissed with scathing emphasis.

Camilla dismissed all effort at self-defense. "It beats spending the night where you were. Did you just get back?" Peter and Avis were waiting for you, but we didn't think you would stay in town all night. We must have dropped off sleep." She had scrambled to her feet and was shaking the sand from her chiffon evening dress.

"I should think you did. Waiting for us?" Avis sneered, and turned to Terry with a scornful imitation of laughter.

Terry shifted his weight from one foot to another, avoided Camilla's eyes and looked at Peter.

Peter's jaw was set hard, but the expression which lighted his eyes denied his serious concern. Fate had forced the issue, he was thinking.

Perhaps it was best, after all. He looked at Camilla and smiled a little. They certainly did not act like guilty culprits. Avis was thinking with surprise. "I wouldn't say anything more, now," he advised guiltily.

"Then, we had better all go up to the house," she suggested, seeming not at all perturbed.

Avis looked at her queerly. She was willing to go the limit, fostered by modern social conventions, but Camilla's nonchalance in the face of this evidence as this, astonished her. The four turned and ploughed through the sand in silence, single-file, in a desolate little procession. The waves lapped the shore softly, as if in gentle sympathy.

The girls mounted the steps that climbed up the side of the cliff house, Avis leading. The boys stopped below to light cigarettes.

"Well?" Terry, who inquired under his breath, holding his lighter for Peter. "Sorry we went to look for you, but she insisted. What are you going to do about it?"

Peter inhaled and exhaled the smoke slowly. "Whatever Camilla decides," he said, and started up the steps.

"Can't we fix it up?" suggested Terry. Queer how, in spite of the single standard of morals, men defend each other in such difficult crises, and women are eager to betray one another. Woman proclaims her equal freedom and independence from man, but still clings to the ancient characteristics of primal jealousy and feminine revenge that were fostered by her dependence upon man.

Peter muttered his appreciation. "Decent of you to suggest it, but I think Camilla will manage all right." Some of the guests had retired to their rooms, but enough of them were about to witness the triumphal entry of Avis and her captives. She said nothing, but her elaborate air of scorn and accusation conveyed exactly what her words might have.

"So you found them?" Cathie had exclaimed when they first appeared. "We really were anxious about you, Camilla. No one knew where you had gone from the club. Then, as Avis' congealed manner indicated the situation, she looked at Camilla queerly and added, "Well, now that all here, let's turn in. I'm dead!"

Avis turned confidently to Terry. "Will you drive me home, please? I've had enough of this."

"Before you go," Camilla's soft voice sounded strangely resonant in the still stiffness of the early morning, and every eye turned to look at her closely. She hesitated for a dramatic moment, "—allow me to present my husband. Peter and I have been married for more than a month and we expected to keep it a secret for awhile longer—" she stopped, with a little helpless gesture which explained everything. The silence grew more tense.

"Married?" Cathie was the first to exclaim, finally. "Why, you say old pirates, you?" She threw her arms around Camilla and kissed her. "First to kiss the bride! Say, let's raise the crowd out and celebrate the good news."

"Please don't," Camilla begged. "Let's get some rest and celebrate later. Remember, even mother and dad know nothing about it, yet. Won't you let me explain everything to her, first?"

Her suggestion was agreed upon, as if each of them enjoyed the idea of entering the conspiracy to keep the affair a secret for a few more hours. Only Avis did not relinquish her air of shocked disapproval, and insisted upon leaving for home with Terry.

"As you wish," Camilla said, with no effort to detain her.

So it happened that it was Avis who made public announcement of Camilla's marriage to Peter. At a discreet hour of the morning, Mrs. Werth telephoned her social antagonist with a sheathed leer of malevolent delight.

"I had never supposed," she told Mrs. Hoyt with distinct compunction, "that when I permitted my daughter to attend your house party, I was exposing her to questionable influences."

"Why—" Mrs. Hoyt was aghast with the horror and anger, "what do you mean?"

"Oh, you know about my daughter finding Camilla with that young nobody who has been seen with her. Of course, Camilla says they are married, but—"

That was the charge which disturbed Mrs. Hoyt from her lethargy of wonder and led to action. She terminated the conversation with Mrs. Werth as adroitly as the subject permitted, and hastened to Camilla's room.

Camilla had not slept since retiring, but she was resting until the household stirred. She was too excited for sleep, anyway, and after a happy day that events had reached its climax, when her position as Peter's wife would be determined before the world. Mrs. Hoyt's knock on her door did not surprise her, but the expression of horror and anger on her face did.

"Mrs. Hoyt has heard the news, already. Even when Camilla had been only a little girl and Mrs. Hoyt's bulk had towered above her in condemnation, she had not seemed so tall and so furious as she was now.

She closed the door and stood over Camilla where she had slipped to a sitting posture on the bed. Her small, hard eyes blazed with anger and her words blazed from behind closed teeth.

"So! This is the way you show your appreciation for everything I've done for you?"

Camilla met her gaze bravely, but with due respect. "You mean about my marrying Peter," she said quietly. "I was just waiting to tell you as soon as I heard you agree."

"Then it is true—"

"Yes, I told you."

"Mrs. Werth of the people. She began with some accusing remark about Avis finding you—"

"Yes, I'm sorry about that. But rather glad in a way, because it's a relief to tell you—"

"A relief!" the voice lashed her as if the older woman wielded a whip. "Do you think it is a relief to me to learn not only that you have deceived me all summer with this—unspeakable affair, but that you have made a mess of it with a nobody, that you have dragged the proud name I gave you down to disgrace? Oh, I might have known you would—"

"—common speech never can be made into a thoroughbred!"

Camilla was tempted to smile a little at the implication. "Then it would not seem that I have made a mess of it, after all. Perhaps I have even done Peter an injustice by marrying him. He is so splendid!"

Mrs. Hoyt let the scorn in her eyes blaze upon the girl for a silent moment. "Splendid enough to marry you and let you keep silent about it, so he wouldn't have to take care of you. And I suppose he thought you were the heir to the Hoyt fortune, too! You will see how splendid he is, now!"

Camilla made a little weary gesture and sighed, "You're just wasting your breath with all those accusations. He knows all about me, and has begged me for a long time to let him take care of me. I wouldn't be because it isn't fair. He has enough to do, now, and I only married him with the promise to each other that we should live apart and each be absolutely independent until he makes good. He will, too, but he has to have time."

"That is what he has persuaded you to think."

"Have it as you will. It makes little difference to me," Camilla replied listlessly. "I love Peter and Peter loves me. We are married and nothing can separate us. That is all that matters. I'll leave her today, if you wish. As for your name, I haven't need that any more. I am Camilla Anson, now."

Wanted It Settled
Peter, aged six, was given two-pence and had been forbidden to buy a water-pistol.

"I will happen if I do buy a water-pistol. Mum?"

"You will have a good smacking and be put straight to bed."

"Yes, I know all about that, but those water-pistol will be when I get up?"

The Story Of A Horse

Her Owner
Veteran of War Now Pensioned By

Twenty-two years old and a war-veteran; twice wounded and possessing a record of more than four years' active service—that is Mary. And Mary, a round-barrelled, dark bay mare, now lives in honored retirement, the pensioner of her owner, Colonel Lorne T. McLaughlin, C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., on a farm just outside Bowmanville, Ontario.

Founded in 1911, Mary was just four years old when she enlisted in the First Canadian Contingent in the 2nd Battalion. From the start the stars shone on her, for she became the charger of the Commanding officer, the late Sir David Watson, K.C.B. Later she continued to perform that duty with Lieut.-Col. (now Brig.-General) A. E. Swift, C.M.G., D.S.O., for a brief space in 1916 she was supported by a mining upstart from the western plains, named Minnie, who was the favored one of Lieut.-Col. W. M. Yates.

Mary's glories were almost completely eclipsed when the late Brig.-General R. P. Clark, C.M.G., D.S.O., M.C., brought a chestnut hunter to the battalion as his first mount, on his becoming commanding officer. But with his departure, Mary again came into her own, and for nearly two years reigned supreme among the equine members of the unit, as Colonel McLaughlin's first horse.

Unusually intelligent, gentle, courageous and fleet, Mary was by all counts the favorite steed in the transport lines. She was twice wounded, but always carried on. And now, in the twilight of her existence, far removed from the gunfire which held her for her no terrors and from the airy music of the brass band which she greatly loved and behind which no horse stepped with better gait or held high its head with greater pride.—From The Legionary.

French Plane Spans Ocean

Completes Crossing From Africa To South American Port

The great French flying boat, "Southern Cross," reached Natal January 4, completing an Atlantic crossing from Saint Louis, Senegal.

The plane landed at 7:10 o'clock on a flying time of 19 hours, 17 minutes for the 1,970 miles. The distance from Saint Louis to Natal is 1,970 miles.

The four-motored hydroplane is the French entry in a race with Germany to fly the first trans-Atlantic air mail line between Europe and South America via Africa.

It is capable of carrying 11 tons of fuel. Within two months the French government hopes to initiate daily service between Paris and Rio de Janeiro, with a non-stop hop schedule over the south Atlantic.

The giant plane with a wing spread of 144 feet, landed easily on the Pottery River. The flyers said they averaged 110 miles an hour.

Had To Be Transferred

Old Phonograph Discs Would Not Work On New Machines

The British Museum has photographed the discs on which, in the olden days of horn recording, were registered the voices of famous men now dead. Some time ago a number of people gathered to hear Lord Tennyson speak from a disc made many years ago. Only a jumble of sound would have been played on a phonograph in use at the time it was made, but no such instrument is in existence. Engineers finally solved the problem. Putting the disc on a modern phonograph they played the old cylinder and converted the harsh and unintelligible sounds into minute electric waves, which were then passed through tone filters and transferred to a new master disc.

The Rule To Follow

In some reports of the jubilee celebration of Chief of the Maclean clan the name spelled "MacLean" and in others "Maclean." In reality, the Scottish Macs ought to hold a convention and agree, if they can, when the capital letter is correct. One book, dealing with the subject, disposes of it this way: "When the name is spelled as in MacLean, the capital should be used; otherwise the 'lower case' form is correct.—Toronto Globe."

A Cass county Sunday school teacher asked a little girl "where do little girls go?" and the reply was "most everywhere."

For the first time in 12 years England and Wales were declared free from smallpox recently.

Figures Regarding Speed Of Light Are Fairly Accurate

The speed of light is placed at 299,774 kilometres or 186,271 miles per second, in a new estimate made at Pasadena, Cal. Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of the Carnegie Institution's Mount Wilson Observatory, said in announcing the new figure that it was not absolute, but that the final computation which will be completed in about six months, would not vary much more than two kilometres from it. The new value is 13 miles per second slower than that reached by the late Dr. Albert A. Michelson in 1927 after he had flashed light beams with mirrors from Mount Wilson to another nearby peak.

Monetary Uncertainty

Restoration Of Confidence In Various Currencies Is Needed

Charles Rist, Adviser to French Government says: "At a time when, as everybody agrees, the world crisis is drawing to a close, the thing most needed as a help to the revival of world business is confidence in the various currencies and certainty as to the future of each."

"If the monetary uncertainty that prevails at present could be brought to an end, problems that seem insoluble today would solve themselves. Restrictions on imports and the use of quotas, for one thing, would magically vanish. If on the other hand the uncertainty continues much longer, new problems will not fail to arise, and they will be harder to solve than any that we have met so far."

Little Helps For This Week

"The Lord is good, a strong-hold is the day of trouble; and He knoweth them that trust in Him."—Nahum 1:7.

Leave God to order all thy ways, And hope in Him what'er they be. Thou'lt find Him in the evil days. Thy all sufficient strength and guide. Who trusts in God's unchanging love, Builds on the rock that cannot move.

Our whole trouble in our lot in this world arises from the disagreement of our mind therewith. Let the mind be brought to the lot and the whole trouble is instantly hushed; let it be kept in that disposition and the man shall stand at ease in his affliction, like a rock unmoved when the waters beat upon it.—T. Boston.

How does our will become sanctified? By conforming itself unreservedly to that of God. We will all that He wills, and will nothing that He does not will; we attach our feeble will to that all-powerful will that performs everything. Thus nothing can ever come to pass against our will, for nothing can happen save what God wills, and we find in His good pleasure an inexhaustible source of peace and consolation.—Fenelon.

A Means Of Protection

Less Wheat Production Seems Sensible Under Present Conditions

The fact may arouse repugnance in the breast of economists of the old school, but nevertheless it is true that under the present conditions we are producing too much wheat and must adapt our production to the requirements of the market. This is not a right-about-face for Western agriculture. It is a temporary measure to meet emergent conditions. Gradually, under pressure of economic laws the market for our wheat will be re-established. For the present there is simply no sense in adding to our own difficulties.—Winnipeg Tribune.

EACH MORNING

Someone has written a book on "Life Begins as Forty." I rise to offer a substitute title, Mr. Author, "Life Begins Each Morning."

Whether one is twenty, forty or sixty; whether one has succeeded, failed or just muddled along; whether yesterday was full of sun or storm, or one of those dull days with no weather at all. Life Begins Each Morning!

Life is a day—this day. All past days are gone beyond reviving. All days that still may come for you or me are veiled in the great mystery, and for all we know, there may not be another for either of us. Therefore, this day is Life, and life begins anew with it.

There is no staged age or period of which it can be said, "Here is the dawn of life's day." Today is the dawn of that day. Take and use it as best you can, or as you choose. It is your life, and if you prefer to toll it away or waste it, that is your privilege, though it be unwise and unprofitable.

However you have used gone days, you can start afresh each morning, if you so desire. You can use this day for consolidating past gains of spirit, brain and hand, or you can use it for tearing down the old structure of self and laying the foundations for a new building. Each night of life is a well between today and the past. Each morning is the open door to a new world—new vistas, new aims, new tryings.

The greatest fact in life is this, that it never is too late to start again. History overflows with startling examples of this truth. And if we had access to the vast number of unrecorded lives, we would find an overwhelming mass of supporting testimony.

However discouraging your days may have been thus far, keep this thought burning brightly in your mind—Life Begins Each Morning!—Leigh Mitchell Hodges, in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.
